Career Interest Profiler

Introduction

You are about to begin the Career Interest Profiler, a tool that can help you discover the types of work activities and careers that match your interests. The interest profiler has 180 questions about work activities that people do at their jobs.

When choosing your answers, think about whether you would like or dislike doing a particular work activity if you had a chance to do it. Try not to think about whether you have enough education or training to perform the activity.

This is not a test. There are no right or wrong answers. The more accurately you answer each question, though, the better your results will be. If you need to leave the profiler in the middle and return later, remember to complete all the answers on the page you are on and click the "Save and Continue" button. When you return to this section, you will pick up where you left off.

When you are ready to begin, please click the "Start Profiler" button below.

Welcome back to the profiler. You left off on page 1.

Please be sure to answer all of the questions on this page. When you finish a page of questions, press the "Save and Continue" button at the bottom of the page. You may stop the Interest Profiler at any time and come back to where you left off. Press the "Previous" button to make changes to your last finished page. The answers on your current page will not be saved when you move to the previous page.

- Artistic: 13
- Social: 4
- Enterprising: 1
- Conventional: 2

Your strongest interests are in green. You can think about your interests as work activities you like to do. Your interests can help you find occupations you might like to explore. The more an occupation meets your interests, the more likely it is to be satisfying and rewarding to you.

Are you ready to explore the occupations that match your interests? Just click the button below.

Definitions

Realistic: Realistic occupations frequently involve work activities that include practical, hands-on problems and solutions. They often deal with plants, animals, and real-world materials like wood, tools, and machinery. Many of the occupations require working outside, and do not involve a lot of paperwork or working closely with others.

Investigative: Investigative occupations frequently involve working with ideas, and require an extensive amount of thinking. These occupations can involve searching for facts and figuring out problems mentally.

Artistic: Artistic occupations frequently involve working with forms, designs and patterns. They often require self-expression and the work can be done without following a clear set of rules.

Social: Social occupations frequently involve working with, communicating with, and teaching people. These occupations often involve helping or providing service to others.

Enterprising: Enterprising occupations frequently involve starting up and carrying out projects. These occupations can involve leading people and making many decisions. Sometimes they require risk taking and often deal with business.

Conventional: Conventional occupations frequently involve following set procedures and routines. These occupations can include working with data and details more than with ideas. Usually there is a clear line of authority to follow.

5 Most Important Skills

- Judgment and Decision Making

Considering the relative costs and benefits of potential actions to choose the most appropriate one.

- Complex Problem Solving

Identifying complex problems and reviewing related information to develop and evaluate options and implement solutions.

- Active Listening

Giving full attention to what other people are saying, taking time to understand the points being made, asking questions as appropriate, and not interrupting at inappropriate times.

- Reading Comprehension

Understanding written sentences and paragraphs in work related documents.

- Critical Thinking

Using logic and reasoning to identify the strengths and weaknesses of alternative solutions, conclusions or approaches to problems.

5 Most Important Abilities

The ability to combine pieces of information to form general rules or conclusions (includes finding a relationship among seemingly unrelated events).

- Deductive Reasoning

The ability to apply general rules to specific problems to produce answers that make sense.

- Problem Sensitivity

The ability to tell when something is wrong or is likely to go wrong. It does not involve solving the problem, only recognizing there is a problem.

- Written Expression

The ability to communicate information and ideas in writing so others will understand.

5 Most Important Knowledge Areas

Remember: planning well is essential for success.

To begin with the end in mind means to start with a clear understanding of your destination. It means to know where you're going so that you better understand where you are now so that the steps you take are always in the right direction.

-Stephen Covey,
The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People,
1989, p98
